

4 Translation

Relative clauses

- 1 That's the woman who designed Kate's wedding dress. _____
- 2 He creates clothes which are glamorous and expensive. _____
- 3 I'll take you to the shop where I bought my new coat. _____
- 4 I met a girl who works for Stella McCartney. _____
- 5 We visited the school where my mum was a student. _____
- 6 These are the shoes which I bought in the sale. _____

some / any / no compounds

- 1 I'd like to go somewhere different this summer. _____
- 2 Did you know anyone at the fashion show? _____
- 3 No one spoke to me when I first arrived. _____
- 4 Someone brought a parcel for you yesterday. _____
- 5 She couldn't see anything that she wanted to buy. _____
- 6 I looked but my bag was nowhere in the house. _____

Future forms

- 1 I don't think people will stop buying expensive clothes. _____
- 2 Who are you meeting this afternoon? _____
- 3 She's going to wear a very glamorous dress to the premiere. _____
- 4 Will they have a fashion show this season? _____
- 5 They might have a barbecue tonight. _____
- 6 What are you doing this summer? _____

Revision

Gok Wan is a British style guru. His real name is Ko-Hen Wan, which means Noisy Big City in Cantonese Chinese, but he uses Gok in his professional life. His family live in Leicester, England, where Gok was brought up, but his father originally came from Hong Kong. Gok presents television programmes which give people fashion advice and help them to feel better about their bodies. At the moment, he's encouraging people to wear glasses if they need them, because he thinks they can look very fashionable.

[illegible]