This is a lynx. It lives in the forests of Northern Europe, Asia and America. It is a rare animal because people have often killed it for fur.

Lynxes hunt small animals, such as rabbits, squirrels or mice. They are very good hunters because of their strong hearing and vision. Small brushes at the end of their ears help lynxes to hear better. They also have very good eyes – they can see a mouse from more than 70 metres away!

Lynxes are beautiful animals. They have got thick and shiny fur with dark spots. They also have big furry paws, which keep them warm in winter – they are like snowshoes!

1 Why is it difficult to see a lynx in the forest?

2 Which two parts of the body help the lynx hunt?

3 What protects the lynx from getting cold in the snow?
