The last time I ate paella was two years ago. It was on holiday in Madrid. Before that, I had it in a Spanish restaurant in my hometown. I have to say that it's one of my favourite dishes. I asked my mum to make it at home, but she says she doesn't have the right saucepan for it.

It all depends on the ingredients. Chicken paella is quite good, but the one with shrimps and mussels ... Well, don't try it! It smells and tastes awful, maybe because of the fish stock. Anyway, there are other Spanish snacks I like a lot more, for example, grilled green peppers.

It was last summer and it was my first time in Spain. We were staying at my aunt's villa and she made us really delicious paella. I loved it! She says she has a secret ingredient – I think it's saffron. Anyway, I'll have to ask my parents to take me to a Spanish restaurant one day.
